EUROPEAN SOCIAL PHILOSOPHY

A historical survey of European social philosophy from the eighteenth to the twentieth century, with special attention to theories of capitalism and the normative concepts (freedom, alienation, human flourishing) that inform them. A further topic is the relation between civil society and the state.
Prerequisite (recommended): one prior course in the Philosophy Department

Required Texts

- Adam Smith, The Wealth of Nations (Modern Library) (WN)
G.W.F. Hegel, Elements of the Philosophy of Right, trans. H.B. Nisbet (Cambridge) (PhR)
[or: Philosophy of Right, trans. T.M. Knox (Oxford)]
Karl Marx, The Marx-Engels Reader, ed. Robert C. Tucker, 2nd ed. (Norton) (MER)
Friedrich Engels, "The Principles of Communism" (handout)
Max Weber, The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism (Dover) (PESC)

Recommended Texts

- Frederick Neuhouser, Actualizing Freedom: Foundations of Hegel's Social Theory (Harvard)
Allen Wood, Karl Marx (Routledge)
(A more extensive bibliography of secondary literature will be handed out later in class.)

Course Requirements

- Attendance of all class meetings
- One in-class midterm exam, February 25
- One final exam
- Two papers, 7-8 pages each, due March 10 and April 30

Final grades will be determined as follows:

- 1/2 Papers
- 1/6 Midterm
- 1/3 Final Exam

A passing grade on each paper and exam is required to pass the course.

Irregular attendance can influence final grades (negatively) in borderline cases.

The penalty for plagiarism will be failure of the course in all cases. If you are in any doubt as to what constitutes the illegitimate use of another person's work, don't hesitate to consult me.

E-mail: You may contact me by e-mail when you have a question that can be answered in a sentence or two (e.g., about course requirements or to set up an appointment). E-mail is a great convenience, but it can't replace philosophical conversation in person. When you have philosophical questions, please come to my office hours or make an appointment with me. Do not send me copies of your papers as e-mail attachments. Only hard (paper) copies will be accepted.

A note on grades: In recent years some students seem to have acquired the belief that merely turning in the required course work assures them a grade of B. In this course I consciously attempt to break with the current trend of rampant grade inflation. This means that I use the full range of the grading scale, A to F. B's are reserved for good work; merely satisfactory work receives a C. Since A designates excellence ("standing out"), it's unlikely that, say, 40% of the class will receive a final grade of A. On the other hand, I don't curve grades, so if half the class does excellent work, half the class will receive an A.

All assignments in this class are to be completed in accordance with the Barnard Honor Code. Columbia students commit themselves to the Honor Code upon registering for a Barnard course. The code says, in part: "We consider it dishonest to ask for, give, or receive help in examinations or quizzes, to use any papers or books not authorized by the instructor in examinations, or to present . . . written work that is not entirely our own, unless otherwise approved by the instructor."

The penalty for plagiarism will be failure of the course in all cases. If you are in any doubt as to what constitutes the illegitimate use of another person's work, don't hesitate to consult me.

Students who need disability-related accommodations should both see me and stop by the Office of Disability Services as soon as possible.
