1st Latinx Philosophers Conference
Columbia University_April 29-30_2016
April 29_1pm-7:30pm_Hamilton Hall 613
April 30_9am-7pm_Philosophy Hall 716

Keynote Speakers
Jorge J. E. Gracia_State University Of New York_Buffalo
Bueno Otávio_University Of Miami

Speakers and Commentators
Manuel Barrantes_James Madison University_Arthur Heller Brito_Columbia University_César Cabezas_Columbia University_Francisco Gallegos_Georgetown University_Alexander Guerrero_University Of Pennsylvania_Jake McNulty_Columbia University_Jorge Montiel_Marquette University_Jennifer M. Morton_City College Of New York_Mariana Noé_Columbia University_Javiera Perez-Gomez_University Of Maryland_Sebastian Purcell_Suny Coburg_Stephanie Rivera-Berruz_William Paterson University_Edgar Valdez_Seton Hall University_Phil Yau_re_Columbia University

Co-sponsored by
Minorities and Philosophy MAP
Columbia University Philosophy Department
The Center for Race, Philosophy, and Social Justice
Columbia’s Classical Studies Graduate Program CLST
1st Latinx Philosophers Conference

April 29: Hamilton Hall 613

1 p.m.    Introductory Remarks
1:30 p.m. “Difficulty and Responsibility” by Alexander Guerrero (University of Pennsylvania), comments by Javiera Perez-Gomez (University of Maryland)
2:45 p.m. “Kant’s Mathematics: Why the Syntheticity of Geometry Needs the Analyticity of Arithmetic” by Edgar Valdez (Seton Hall University), with comments by Jake McNulty (Columbia University)
4:15 p.m. “Is the Enhanced Indispensability Argument Circular?” by Manuel Barrantes (James Madison University), with comments by Arthur Heller Britto (Columbia University)
5:45 p.m. Keynote: “Why There Are No Styles of Mathematical Reasoning” by Otavio Bueno (University of Miami)

April 30: Philosophy Hall 716

9 a.m.    “Eudaimonia and Neltilitzti: Aristotle and the Aztecs on the Good Life” by Sebastian Purcell (SUNY Cortland), with comments by Mariana Noé (Columbia University)
10:45 a.m. “South-to-South Relations in Dussel’s ‘Transmodern’ Rationality” by Jorge Montiel (Marquette University), with comments by César Cabezas (Columbia University)
1:30 p.m. “An Expressive Defense of Ideal Theory” by Jennifer M. Morton (City College of New York), with comments by Phil Yaure (Columbia University)
2:45 p.m. “The Indispensable and the Inadequate: Latin American Philosophy and European Thought” by Stephanie Rivera-Berruz (William Paterson University), with comments by Francisco Gallegos (Georgetown University)
4:15 p.m. Keynote: “The Need for Clarity in Racism Against Hispanics/Latinos” by Jorge Gracia (SUNY Buffalo)
6 p.m.    Plenary Session

HOSTED BY COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

THE EVENT IS FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. REFRESHMENTS WILL BE SERVED.